Egypt is one of the most ancient countries in the history, and music was part of this great culture. Many ancient musical instruments were in Egypt although nobody knows how exactly the sound was or how they played them. For example, some kinds of flutes were on rock drawings and pottery from 3000 BCE. Cairo, the capital of Egypt, is one of the main music centers in the Arab world with Syria, Lebanon and Iraq.

The classical Arabic music is very popular in Egypt as a traditional music. Nubian music is played by daf (a kind of drum) and hand clapping. Nubian people live in the south of Egypt and north of Sudan. One of the most important Nubian musicians was Ali Hassan Kuban. He was known as the "Captain". Egyptian musicians from Upper Egypt play a type of folk music called Saidi. Shaabi music is the type of folk music in street music and pop Arabic music. C Reading Comprehension

3 Read the following, then answer the questions: 6

About 70% of the world is covered by water, and 97% of this water lies in the oceans and seas. There are four oceans, the Pacific, Atlantic, Indian and Arctic. Fish are found both in fresh river water and in salty sea water. Small plants grow in shallow waters. Small organisms feed on these plants and in turn become food for small fish. The smaller fish are eaten by the larger ones. Warm waters are covered with coral reefs. There are areas in the seas which are very deep, so sunlight does not reach these areas. Ocean animals come in almost every shape and size. Sharks are actually fish! They do not have bones. They have sharp teeth. They have an excellent sense of smell, which helps them find food. Many sharks eat near the surface of the water, but will also dive down deeper in search of food. There are over 350 kinds of sharks, but only about 25 of those which attack people.

A desert is any large and dry area mostly has sand or rocks. It has little rainfall. One third or 33 percent of Earth's land surface is covered with deserts. There are two types of desert: hot and cold desert. Life in the desert is hard because there is very little rainfall, high temperature, and few plants.

I visited the Thar Desert. I went with my family. It is the hottest and largest desert of India. I never visited such a wonderful desert. The desert is not completely empty as you may think. Some people live in tiny villages. Their traditional clothes and language are different. Their only transport is the camel. The people were friendly and wanted to have talks with us. We rode on camels. After an hour of riding the camels, we stopped for lunch. We had delicious Indian food. That day went by fast – too fast! It was amazing.
